Direction of Fieldwork Projects

2026–present: Archaeological excavations at Grotta del Fossellone, Circeo, southern Latium, Italy. Directed in collaboration with N.J. Conard. Funded by the Cluster of Excellence HUMAN ORIGINS (University of Tübingen, Germany). Authorized by the Italian Ministry of Culture (Decree nr. 153, 23 February 2026).

Archaeological Fieldwork and Lithic Analysis

I have actively participated in archaeological excavations across France, Germany, Israel, Italy, and South Africa. In addition to fieldwork, I have conducted extended research stays at universities and research institutions, focusing on the analysis of lithic assemblages. This work has included the study of key Paleolithic sites such as Brassempouy, Isturitz, Les Cottés, and Tuto de Camalhot (France); Hayonim Cave, Kebara Cave, and Manot Cave (Israel); Ksâr ‘Akil (Lebanon); Boomplaas Cave (South Africa). In Italy, I have analyzed material from several major sites, including Grotta del Fossellone, Grotta della Cala, Grotta di Castelcivita, Grotta di Fumane, Grotta Paglicci, Riparo Bombrini, and Riparo Villabruna.

Teaching
